

Raising awareness

Emerald Risk Transfer supports World Aids Day

World Aids Day is held on 1 December each year and is an opportunity for people worldwide to unite in the fight against HIV, show their support for people living with HIV and to commemorate people who have died.

World Aids Day was the first ever global health day and the first one was held in 1988. Officials from the government often observe the day with speeches or forums based on Aids topics. This year will be the fourth year that Emerald endeavours to raise awareness about the Aids epidemic by displaying Aids banners in and around Emerald's offices.

The proceeds of the annual sale of the banners and other branded items is in aid of the Aids Bannerthon Trust.

In 2012 'Aids Day bags' were purchased and filled with special treats and a gift, and presented to the children of Footprints PLAY Children's Home near Lanseria as one of the final social initiatives for 2012. The children were delighted as they opened their gifts on Christmas morning.

In 2011, in addition to proudly displaying the banners, Emerald bought each of its staff a World Aids Day branded yo-yo, and had lots of fun having yo-yo competitions, while in 2010 staff received a tin of Aids Day branded mints. Emerald are constantly looking at new initiatives to raise awareness as well as support much needed charities.
